FOREWORD

Bruce Tedder, Chairman,
South African Boat Builders Export Council
(SABBEX)

It is with great pride that I welcome you to the latest edition of the South African Boating Industry Guide. This publication stands as a testament to a world-class industry — one that continues to deliver excellence, innovation, and quality craftsmanship to markets around the globe.

South Africa's boatbuilding sector has long been a quiet champion of advanced manufacturing, producing vessels that are sought after for their performance, safety, and sophistication. From luxury leisure catamarans to commercial and specialist craft, our builders are recognised internationally for their skill and ingenuity. This success is underpinned by an ecosystem of dedicated suppliers, skilled artisans, and forward-thinking entrepreneurs who continue to push boundaries.

The sector remains an important contributor to South Africa's economy through exports, employment, and skills development. Collaboration between government, industry, and academia — supported by the Department of Trade, Industry and Competition — has been key to sustaining our competitiveness and growth. Despite the global headwinds of recent years, our builders have demonstrated remarkable resilience, agility, and a readiness to embrace new opportunities in sustainability, green propulsion, and digital innovation.

As SABBEX, our mission is to promote, support, and represent this dynamic sector — to champion our members locally and abroad, and to ensure that South Africa's reputation for excellence in boatbuilding continues to flourish.

This guide celebrates not only our achievements but also our shared commitment to the future of boating in South Africa. I invite you to explore its pages, connect with the people and companies that define our industry, and join us in charting a course toward continued growth and innovation.
